Bitcoin is a long-term investment for most investors.

As of June 2020, almost 18.6 million BTC has been extracted so far. According to the latest report of Chainalysis, the analytical company, over 60% of these BTCs, i.e. 11.4 million, are owned by entities (individuals or companies) that have never sold more than 25% of their holdings.

"long term" Chainalysis wrote in a report. "But this digital gold is supported by an active trading market for those who prefer to buy and sell often," he added.

Current situation on the BTC chart

At the opening of yesterday's session the Bitcoin exchange rate was USD 9331, while at the closing it was USD 9304, which means a decrease of only USD 27, which is about 0.3%. In the weekly range, however, BTC gained close to 3%.

At the moment, the price of Bitcoin is 9398 USD.
